PATENT JOINT

Oil Well Tubing.

This Superior Tubing is furnished with heavy sockets, and is cut with a vanishing screw thread, corresponding exactly with the thread in the socket, so that when screwed up it has a bearing the whole length of the joint; and the absence of a deep thread on the tube at the end of the socket obviates the liability to break at that point from the vibration caused by the action of the pump.

Each length and socket is stamped with our trade mark, and is carefully tested before shipment with a hydraulic pressure of 1,200 pounds to the square inch.

THE WOMAN WHO WAS CONCERNED IN THE BURGLARY ARRAIGNED AT ESSEX MARKET—A CLEAR CASE AGAINST THE JANITOR AND A WATCHMAN IN THE NEW COURT-HOUSE.

New York Standard.

Yesterday afternoon the case of the stolen vouchers came up at Essex Market Police Court, District Attorney Garvin appearing for the prosecution on behalf of the people, and Mr. John Graham as counsel for the prisoner, Mrs. Catharine Haggerty, who had been arrested by Officer Bowers, of the court squad, charged with complicity in the criminal disappearance of the warrants and vouchers from the Controller's office. Ex-Judge Barrett made application to be associated with Mr. Garvin, on behalf of the citizens' committee, but his tender was declined. Afterward the District Attorney consented to allow him to make suggestions on legal points, but refused him permission to address the court.

The affidavits laid before Justice Ledwith are given in full below:

AFFIDAVIT OF MR. CONNOLLY.

City and County of New York, ss—Richard B. Connolly, of said city and county, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the Controller of the city of New York, and was such at the time and times hereafter mentioned; that on the 10th day of September, 1871, the office of said Controller, in said city of New York, was burglariously entered, and certain instruments whereby rights and obligations were created as well as extinguished, to-wit: certain vouchers and warrants and other instruments representing amounts paid by the county of New York, through its officers, to the sum of at least $10,000,000, were feloniously stolen and carried away from said office.

And deponent further says that he suspects and believes that Edwin M. Haggerty, Charles Baulch and Mrs. Haggerty committed the burglary aforesaid, and feloniously abstracted the instruments and documents aforesaid.

And deponent says, That on the 10th day of September, 1871, certain vouchers, receipts and warrants for the payment of money, were filed and deposited in the office of the Controller of the city of New York, in the city of New York (the said office being then and there a public office,) and such vouchers, receipts and warrants, so as aforesaid filed and deposited, were, on said 10th day of September, 1871, feloniously stolen and carried away from the said Controller's office, and deponent suspects and believes that the same were, so as aforesaid, feloniously stolen and carried away by Edwin M. Haggerty, Charles Baulch and Mrs. Haggerty.

And deponent further says that upon the annexed affidavit of Mary Conway and William Murphy, he charges the offence aforesaid mentioned against the said Edwin M. Haggerty, Charles Baulch and Mrs. Haggerty, and therefore asks a warrant for their arrest.

RICHARD B. CONNOLLY.

Sworn to, before me, September 20th, 1871. THOS. A. LEDWITH, Police Justice.

AFFIDAVIT OF WILLIAM MURPHY, NIGHT WATCHMAN.

City and county of New York, ss.—William Murphy being duly sworn, doth depose and say: I am night watchman in the Controller's Department in the court-house; on Saturday night, September 9, when I came down, about 6 o'clock, to go on duty, I met Charles Baulch at the front door, and he says to me, "Murphy, what time do you go away from here to-morrow morning?" says I, "I will go away, may be, at 5 or 6:30 o'clock;" "Well," says he, "when you go away put the latch down in the door, because last Sunday morning Haggerty's boy took a lot of boys upstairs on the roof,' and I believe he said the masons or stone-cutters had some glue up there, and the boys destroyed all the stuff; says I, "All right, Charley, I'll do it;" so then I went to the office and stayed there; between 8 and 9 o'clock I was standing at the window that looks into Chambers street, and I heard the door slam; I pushed the window up and looked out and saw Charlie come out, and when he saw me open the window, he says to me: "Murphy, is that you?" says I: "Yes;" so I went around and opened the iron door on the side near the Chamberlain's office and came out; he questioned me the same way again as to what time I would go away; I said about 6 or 6:30 o'clock in the morning; said he: "don't forget about the latch;" said I; "no;" said he: "if anybody should come around looking for me, tell them I am around the building somewhere; I said "all right;" then he went out and shut the door; that was the last I saw of him; I don't know whether I saw him on Monday morning or not; I remained there until about 6 o'clock on Sunday morning; then I went up home, and I put the latch down before leaving so that no one could get in without a key; when I got my breakfast I came down here again; I got here about 9 o'clock; I saw Haggerty going up stairs as I came in, and he kind of stumbled; I could not see whether they were papers or what they were, but whatever they were he stumbled up stairs and something fell, and he picked it up again and put it on his arm; he had them on his arm, whatever they were; he says to me, "Hallos, Murphy!" says I: "How do you do, Mr. Haggerty?" Then I went into the office and walked around and seen that nothing was disturbed; I waited until a quarter past nine, when Mr. Storrs came there; I went out and opened the door to let Mr. Storrs in; he could not get in without; after I let Mr. Storrs in Mr. Lawrence came; I let him in, and in the meantime, when I let him into the hall, I saw that there was a piece of thick blotting paper pasted outside of the hole in the window, on the outside; I lifted up a little corner of the paper and saw that the glass was broken; I said to myself, this must have got broken, and some of the clerks put this paper over so as not to let any one look in here; I paid no more attention to it; Mr. Storrs went away about half-past 12; he says to me, "Murphy, you had better stay here this afternoon, as I may want to come back here again;" says I, "Yes, sir;" then I stayed until six o'clock; I went up town and got something to eat, and got back here about nine o'clock; when I came back and went to I seen the stick was away from the door and the glass was broke; there is a stick that goes up against the door and fastened the door, and when Regan came in the morning I reported to Mr. Regan; he said to me, "Did you miss anything?" Said I, "No; I don't see anything missed here;" and after that the Controller sent up town for me, and in the meantime I came down here listening to the injunction trial in the court; I knew nothing about anything being gone until a young man came into court and saw me, and said Mr. Connolly wanted to see me; I went up stairs and told him just what I have heard here; I stayed in the Controller's office; Mr. Connolly says to me, "What kept you up town so long?" I said I went into my brother's store up town, and he was going away, and wanted me to stay until he came back; on Friday night, I think, Mr. Connolly told me they had arrested a man; I judged from what Charles Baulch said to me, and from my seeing Haggerty going up stairs on Sunday morning that they might have went there; I went up stairs and asked Mary if she knew anything about it, and from what she said I partly judged she did; while we were talking she thought she heard Mr. Haggerty coming up stairs, and I went down and she went into the room; then I went up stairs again, and told her not to say anything about it to anybody until she saw me; in the meantime I told the Controller I thought I could find out where the papers were gone; he said, "You try and find out where they are gone," for, he said, "they are laid on me for taking them;" I told him I would do my best; on Sunday, about 5:30 o'clock, I got down here and met one of the firemen, and he says to me, "Billy, do you know the girl that is in the new court-house?" I said: "Yes;" said he, "she was up here this morning and she wanted to see you, and if you go down to No 95 Washington street you will find her," so I went into the court-house; I told the man on watch there that I wanted to go down to Washington street; I went down and came back again; I got back about 6 o'clock; Mary told me that she would go to the Controller's house and state all she knew about it; I asked her if she would not come up with me, and she said yes, that she would go up on Monday night; I said no, he might not be home, but that I would come down and let her know when she should go; so I then told Mr. Connolly that we would go upon Monday night, and he said, "No, I will not be home, but come up on Tuesday morning;" that was yesterday morning; I said, "All right sir, I will come up;" so I brought her up to the house and I saw Mr. Connolly, and she gave the statement to Mr. Connolly; Mr. Connolly told her not to say anything about it, because they had a man arrested and he knew the man was innocent, and he wanted to see what they would do with him; she went into the cars and I went home; about 1 o'clock yesterday there were two men came to the house after me and told me the Controller wanted to see me right away; I came right down and saw the Controller, and he said to me: "Murphy, will you go down and see the girl? do you think you can get her to No. 37 Chambers street, Mr. Beach's office?" I said I guessed I could; I asked if he wanted her right away; he said yes; then I went down, and she was not at home; I saw the woman she stops with, and she told me she had come up after her clothes; I came up to the court-house and waited; I did not see the Controller; then I went home and got some supper, and got back here about 6 o'clock; I told the man on watch that I wanted to go away for a little time; he said: "All right;" I went down to Washington street again last night; Mary was not at home; the woman said she was gone to see some friend of hers; I went down this morning and saw her, and brought her here.

AFFIDAVIT OF MARY CONWAY.

City and County of New York, ss.: Mary Conway being duly sworn, doth depose and say: I have lived with Mr. and Mrs. Haggerty in the county court-house for over fourteen months as cook; for about three or four months I did general housework; on Sunday morning, September 10, I got out of bed with the child that slept with me, wanting to get up; I don't know whether it was half-past six or seven o'clock; Mrs. Haggerty came into the room in her night-dress and said to me "It is too early to get up yet;" I said to her: "Being as I am up I guess I will dress myself;" as I was dressed I went out into the hall; I heard a knocking down stairs; I said to Mrs. Haggerty, "It sounds as if it was at the Controller's door; I went over to the kitchen, unlocked the kitchen door, and went down stairs to the head of the stairs that leads to the Controller's hall; I saw Charley Baulch knocking at the Controller's door, and calling, "Murphy, are you there?" Murphy is a watchman; I came up stairs and went back to the kitchen; shortly after I went down stairs again and saw Charley Baulch with the door of the Controller's office open, he holding it back on the outside, and I saw Mr. Haggerty come out of the door with bundles of papers in his arms and bring them up to his bedroom; the door where he came out is at the foot of the stairs, where the glass is broken, that enter the County Bureau; I came back, and did not go down any more; each bundle of papers was tied with either a pink tape or a pink ribbon round them; the next thing, I went over from the kitchen out into the hall for a scuttle of coal; in this hall Mr. Haggerty's bedroom door faced me; I saw a man with gray clothes going in there with another bundle of papers like what Mr. Haggerty had; then I brought back the coal to the kitchen and put in on the fire; the next I saw was this man with the gray clothes going down with a pillow case on his back, full, and looked as though filled with papers, shaped like the bundles Mr. Haggerty had; at the same time he went down the stairs Charley Baulch said to him, "This way!" I kind of judged there was something up, and I went to look in the drawer where the pillow cases were and I missed one of the linen pillow cases; I did this soon afterward; soon after the man went down with the pillow case, Mrs. Haggerty came into the kitchen, giving me a key, and telling me to go over to the drying room; that is a room separate from the bed-rooms; there was a chest there full of linen, table linen and bed linen, and silver right down in the bottom; she told me to get a nut-picker and bring if over; that Mr. Haggerty wanted one; I took all the clothes out of the trunk, and got the nut-picker and brought it back to her, and before I got into the kitchen I said to Mrs Haggerty, "What is the matter? The kitchen's all black with smoke, and the dining-room's all black with smoke." She said, "Mr. Haggerty wanted these papers burned; I told him not to put them in, but he wants them burned." I went over to the range to cook some eggs for breakfast; it was full of burned papers on the top and in the bottom; there laid a bundle of papers on the top that were about half burned, with a piece of pink tape around them; I put on the cover again; they were partly smothered, going out; Mrs. Haggerty had a poker stirring up the papers on the top and underneath, where the ashes were; the bottom of the range was full of burning papers, and Mrs. Haggerty had the poker stirring them up so that they would burn faster; from underneath the range and from the top she took when I let him into the hall, I saw that there was a piece of thick blotting paper pasted outside of the hole in the window, on the outside;

Power of the Press.

The power of the press in chastising vice, combating error and exposing folly has often and often been illustrated. But never in any age or country has there been a more signal exhibition of the vigor and influence of the press in creating and directing public opinion than we have lately seen in the course of the New York Times. Other contemporary journals have aided it with their characteristic power, but the Times began this crusade on Tammany, and has kept up an unceasing fire, and with prodigious effect. The effect, indeed, of the demolition of Tammany is not confined to the metropolis alone, but is felt in the remotest confines of the Union. The result of the late elections, the decisive political Republican triumphs which have followed in the wake of the Tammany expose, are but the responsive echoes to the blows struck full in the impudent face and bloated stomach of the New York Democracy by the N. Y. Times. The old virus of the Democratic system was slavery, and the new virus, equally fatal to liberty, is corruption. It had pervaded and vitiated the elective franchise, the very fountain spring on whose purity depend the very life of Republican institutions. It had made the Legislature of the chief state in the Union the register of its edicts, and the chief city of the country its bondslave, the mere creature of its will. It has kept Judges at its pay, and given immunity to crime, and license to vice, pandering the most besotted prejudices of the worst elements of society. But worst of all Tammany had muzzled the press, not only the Democratic press of the whole country which became its parasite and echo, but even purchased the silence of some of the neutral and Republican press of New York city. The courage of the Times in calling in question the acts of Tammany seemed to the mass of the Republican party foolish, while the Democracy only jeered at the attack as an impotent effort of despicable virtue. But the laugh is turned. The Tammany gang is broken up, its leaders are in flight; the flight of criminals covered by shame, with plunder protruding from every pocket, the legs of their boots, their clenched hands, each pointing at the other as the worst of the lot, the whole press now joining in the chorus with the Times, and Sing Sing in full view.

STRANGE IDEAS OF SPORT.—Not long ago two boys were arrested for placing heavy obstructions on the Erie Railroad, near a precipice which had already been the scene of a terrible disaster, their excuse for this peculiar pastime being that they "wanted to see the locomotive jump." They, perhaps, did not know, or, at any rate, they did not consider the perils which they had prepared for innocent passengers, their only thought being to have their "fun." Perhaps some readers regarded this affair, at the time, as specially American in character and detail; but now we have a precisely similar English occurrence, whose recklessness, however, is thrown into still stronger light by the fact that men, instead of boys, were guilty of it. The English papers say that recently two men were charged at Stratford with placing a piece of timber on the Great Eastern Railway. They were perfectly sober at the time, and their defence was that they "only did it for a lark." They were remanded without bail. One of the English papers remarks that "they will possibly in the seclusion of prison life picture to themselves the wholesale misery and death which might have been caused by their playful forgetfulness of the fate of their fellow-creatures, and when they again rejoin the busy haunts of men they will, it is to be hoped, find some less objectionable distraction for an idle hour than setting death traps on railway lines." Railroad traveling has indeed come to a strange pass when the daily catalogue of accidents is not considered terrible enough, but men and boys must, "for the fun of the thing," try to throw trains off the track. The severest punishment which the law allows should be served out to them, even if it spoils the "sport" of these very grimly humorous scapegraces.

ROCHEFORT has reached the limit of his mad career at last. Born a noble, but cradled in poverty, he grew up to manhood and adopted as its profession the sharp department of literature which so worried Napoleon—that of a feuilletonist. His Lanterne gave him fame, and occasioned his sudden departure from Paris to avoid prison. Fame gave him popularity, and this elected him to the corps legislatif, but while there he was arrested and committed to prison. On the fall of the empire, he took at the first moderate ground, and was given a ministerial department in the provisional government. Here for a time he used his influence against the extremists and in favor of moderate counsels When the Commune was installed, however, he went with it—and for this crime he has just been transported to the penal colony—which one is not stated. So rude, for a time, Rochefort.

THE cholera, which has lately visited in its march from Asia the cities of Konigsberg, Dantzic, Elbing, Altona, Coblentz and Leipsic, in Germany, Vienna, in Austria, Moscow and St. Petersburg, and indeed all European Russia, is at length said to have sent its avant couriers to America. The disease is reported to have appeared at Perth Amboy, New Jersey, having been introduced by German immigrants landing at that place. The report sounds the first alarm we have had of the introduction of the ghastly visitor

Commercial Convention.

The Commercial Convention assembled to-day in the main hall of the Masonic Temple, which was handsomely decorated with national flags, shields and coat of arms of the several states. Among the distinguished persons on the floor were Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, and ex-Governor Denison, of Ohio. John W. Garret, who presided at the last convention at Cincinnati, called the convention to order, and spoke as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION—As presiding officer of the Southern Commercial Convention, held in Cincinnati in October last, I have been requested by the Committee of Arrangements to call this meeting to order. The last meeting of the Southern Commercial Convention marked an epoch in the progress and reconciliation of the North and South. Twenty-five states were represented in that convention, and among these were Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Massachusetts, New York, Nevada and Wisconsin. In that convention, meeting on the soil of Ohio, were distinguished and able representative from the North and South, men who acting upon honest convictions and stern principles, fought valorously in the Federal and Confederate armies. Uniform kindness, cordiality and appreciation of southern men and southern interests characterized the action of the men of the North during the sittings of that convention, and such generous intercourse and respect and friendship which resulted from that intercourse, of a better knowledge of each other of citizens of those sections, led to the adoption of a resolution by which the delegates of that convention requested Congress to pass a law granting general amnesty to the people of the South and repeal all political disabilities wherever they exist. Constituted as is this convention, embracing in its membership so many able and eminent citizens, perfect confidence may be entertained that its proceedings will be characterized by the same broad and liberal views, and that it will act so wisely, comprehensively and patriotically that its recommendations cannot fail to produce a salutary influence upon the national legislation.

Garrett concluded with an enthusiastic and hearty welcome to the delegates.

At the conclusion of Garrett's remarks prayer was offered, and Mayor Banks followed in an address of welcome on the part of the city authorities.

Hon. Wm. Pinckney White was next introduced, and delivered a general address of greeting and congratulation.

Parr, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, then announced the following programme on outside entertainments: On Tuesday afternoon, after adjournment, a visit will be made to Druid Hill Park; Wednesday afternoon an excursion down the bay to Annapolis, as guests of the Corn and Flour Exchange; Thursday afternoon, a visit to machine shops and steamship pier of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company; Friday evening, a grand banquet by citizens at Maryland Institute.

The authorities placed at the disposal of the delegates two steamers for excursions, &c., and the different telegraph companies tendered a free use of their lines.

A recess of fifteen minutes was then taken.

On the re-assembling of the convention after recess, the roll of states was called, and the following gentlemen named by delegations present as chairman of their respective delegations: Indiana, W. Carpenter; Iowa, T. M. Monroe; Kentucky, P. Caldwell; Michigan, William Wilmot; Missouri, Hon. E. G Smith; Nebraska, E. A. Allen; Ohio, A. M. Ramsay; Pennsylvania, General J. S. Negley; Tennessee, E. James; West Virginia, C. J. Faulkner.

S. Rhoades, Ohio; Hon. C. J. Faulkner, West Virginia, and for Secretarys W. H. Cole and W. H. Clayton, of Baltimore. The report was adopted.

General Negley, of Pennsylvania, and ex-Governor Stannard, of Missouri, were appointed to conduct the President to the chair.

Bishop on taking the chair thanked the the convention for the high compliment paid him, which he said was not because of any special merit in himself but in compliment to the state and city from which he came. He said he should endeavor to pursue such a course as would redound to the honor of those who placed him in the position, and hoped the deliberations would prove successful and the Divine blessing rest upon all.

Colonel Withers, of Virginia, from the Committee on Rule and Order of Business, reported: First, that the rules of order governing the Cincinnati Convention be adopted; Second, that the following committees, to consist of one member from each state, represented and named by the chairman of the delegation, be appointed; First, railroads; second, interior lines of water communication; third, public lands and navigation; fourth, domestic commerce; fifth, foreign commerce; sixth, finance and taxation; seventh, American ship building and navigation interests; eighth, state inspectors; ninth, mineral and mining interests. The committee also recommend the convention to hold two sessions daily.

Brigham Young had directed his bishops, who are the Probate Judges, to continue chancery or common jurisdiction The argument of Judge Hawley in issuing this writ, like all his opinions, was most exhaustive and able. After its delivery, it is said, several Mormons in person thanked him for it. It is a highly important decision.

The Blind Preacher.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.

Rev. William H. Millburn, of Jacksonville, Ill., well-known as the Blind Preacher, has formally withdrawn from the Episcopal church and on Saturday united with the Methodist. He was admitted to the ministry of the Methodist Church. Mr. Millburn was for many years a member and preacher of the Methodist Church, but five years since withdrew therefrom and joined the Episcopalians.

Railroad Completed.

An excursion train containing a large number of railroad officials, the Board of Public Works of this city and other prominent gentlemen, this evening passed over the Rock Island road to celebrate the completion of the Chicago and Southwestern Railway to Leavenworth, Kansas. This road diverges from the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad at Washington, Iowa, passes through Fairfield, Iowa, and Trenton, Cameron, Missouri. It is expected that Gen. Grant will join the party at Joliet.

Building Torn Down.

The barn of James Purnell, an extensive retail grocer on Hampstead street, Quincy, Illinois, was torn to pieces by the police force last night, and carried into the market square. It is supposed the force were hired to do this by Hon. Thomas Jasper, who owned the ground upon which the house was built, and who took this means to get Purnell off. The affair is causing the greatest excitement, and will, it is said, result in the discharge of Chief J. C. McGraw, and half the police force. Warrants will be sworn out for the arrest of the parties under the riot act.

Colored Convention.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25.

The National Convention of colored people continued its sessions to-day. Resolutions were introduced and referred to petition congress to remove all disabilities from repentent rebels of the south, to wage aggressive war against spirituous liquors, and favoring an extension of suffrage to women.

On motion a committee of seven was appointed to prepare an address to the people of the United States.

Chas. L. Du Ramdmie, of St. Louis, made a strong speech against adopting any distinct political action as colored people, and moved that the convention adjourn sine die, which was defeated by a large majority.

The Business Committee reported the following resolution:

Resolved, That we, the representatives of colored people of the United States in convention assembled, do hereby recommend the setting apart of the 4th of July to commemorate the several events which have culminated in our present position, in the full possession of all the rights of American citizens.

Two minority reports were made, one recommending the 1st day of January and the 4th of July, and the other the 1st day of August. The reports were discussed during the remainder of the session, more than a doz n delegates making speeches. The majority of the speakers favored the 4th of July, but the convention adjourned without final action.

This evening the convention attended in a body a concert given by the sabbath school of the First Baptist Church in honor of the convention.

Boston.

BOSTON, Sept 25.

Arrangements for the eastern tour of President Grant have been definitely agreed upon. The President, together with members of the Cabinet, will arrive in Boston on Sunday, October 15, and be received and entertained by a committee of the City Council. The ceremony of laying the corner stone of the new post-office will take place Monday, October 16, in presence of the Chief Magistrate, Cabinet and numerous distinguished personages. Immediately after, the President will proceed and join in the festivities incident to the opening of the European & North American railroad, which will continue three days. The President will remain until the close.

The Eastern railroad company has decided to apply to the next legislature for authority to build a double track on the Gangus Branch.

Cyrus Kasp, of Chicago, died suddenly in Malden on Sunday of paralysis of the heart.

Weather Report.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.

The barometer has risen since Sunday afternoon from Michigan to Kansas and northward, so far as reports have been received. The pressure has risen very general ly on the middle and eastern Atlantic coast, but has fallen somewhat during the day from Wisconsin to Lake Ontario. Cloudy and threatening weather with rain has been reported from South Carolina to Florida, and cloudiness now extends along the coast to Massachusetts, and is also reported this afternoon from Michigan. The temperature has fallen in the middle and eastern states since Sunday afternoon, and also in North Missouri and Indiana. Northerly winds prevail from Lake Michigan to Missouri, and southwest winds on the lower lakes.

Probabilities—Cloudiness will probably extend very generally on Tuesday along the entire Atlantic coast and lower lakes with light rains.

Kansas and Missouri Fair.

FORT SCOTT, Kansas, Sept. 25.

The Kansas and Missouri Fair opened brilliantly to-day, and trains from all parts of the compass arrived crowded with passengers. The exhibition of cattle, sheep and swine is very large. There is one herd of hogs here from West Virginia. Over fifteen hundred entries have already been made. The weather is very fine and attendance large.

War on the Indians.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.

Captain Henry's command of the Third Cavalry is making a splendid campaign through Eastern Arizona and has destroyed many ranches and killed a number of Apaches. At latest advices he was near Great Tonto basin. The Peace Commissioners stopped at Los Cornes, New Mexico.

Governor Safford's company of two hundred miners and Indian-hunters found rich gold placers in Penal county, and are still scouring after gold and Apaches. General Cook instructed the commanders of the expedition under no circumstance to kill Apache women or children if they are escaping. He declares himself satisfied that the war would not be prolonged beyond six months to effect complete subjugation were it not that Indians who would be otherwise compelled to surrender now find refuge at their old nurses at the reservations. The Coyattero Apaches are actively assisting the troops in the war on other Apache tribes, and it is reported that the White Mountain Apaches will also join the whites in their war.

Probable Fraud.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 25

A man called on Dr. E Sterling, Saturday, to have him certify to the cause of the death of the late D. B. Sexton, a prominent business man of Cleveland, for the purpose, as he stated, of procuring the insurance on Mr. Sexton's life, which the papers presented showed to be one hundred and sixty thousand dollars, in some fifteen of the principal companies in the country. The papers were formally made out, and purported to be signed by the undertaker. The man urged the doctor to sign the papers, and said he would have the other necessary formalities gone through with on Monday, and made an appointment to meet the doctor and go before a notary. The man having failed to keep his appointment, the doctor on investigating the case ascertained that the undertaker's name was forged, and there are strong indications that the party is endeavoring to perpetrate a fraud on the insurance companies.

Fatal Accident.

Recently the county court of Davidson appointed W. A. Green to fill the vacancy of county judge, made by the death of Judge, Turner, and Governor Senter appointed Thomas T. Smiley to the same position. The question was carried to the Circuit Court, and Judge Baxter decided to day in favor of Smiley. Appeal was taken.

Money and Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.

Gold is dull and opened at 111¾ and sold up to 114¾@114¾.

Loans were made at from 6 to 7 per cent, for carrying.

Clearances, $67,500,000.

Government bonds are stronger and higher, on more favorable advices from London, which brought out a demand from foreign bankers. The purchase of three millions of 5.20s by the Treasury also assisted in advancing prices, and the offering of bonds to the Government of $5,512,900 at from 112-00 to 114-70.

Awards, $3 000,000, at from 112-00 to 113-30.

Of three millions of 5 20s bought by the Treasury, not a single bond was to-day presented for payment, which of itself shows that there is no pressure for money, and that the Funding has been altogether a question between lenders and borrowers of high or low rates.

The stock market opened strong and active, but at the close was heavy and lower. Active stocks were ½ to 1¾ off from the highest point to-day, while Hannibal & St. Joe were common and declined 2 per cent. The principal dealings were in Lake Shore, Union Pacific, Pacific Mail, Ohio, Wabash, New York Central, and Northwestern. The Chicago and Rock Island Company has declared a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent. The Lake Shore dividend was officially announced to-day, but does not differ from previous announcements. The first call of 10 per cent. is for the first of November, and the second call for 10 per cent. for the first of December. Thirty days notice will be given of all subsequent calls. The transfer books are open to-day, and close on the seventh of October.

There is an ample supply of money at 6@7 per cent.

Advice by cable reports an improved feeling in London markets, and also says that the Bank of England's discount rate is not advanced this morning as expected.

Stats bonds dull and heavy. New South Carolinas and Tennessees are weak.

Republicans, Attention!

Election is at hand. Your state and county ticket, nominated according to the rules and usages of the party, is before you. We ask you now to rally with your old force, and carry the flag that has led you so many times, for so many years to victory, to victory again. Recollect the issues. Every state election this year has its bearing on the Presidential contest of next year. Let that be settled in favor of Republican policy and measures, and the country will be tided over all the rocks and shoals that still threaten her, and impelled into untrouabled waters, into prosperous and peaceful channels for another generation. We ask you to emulate the unity, the harmony, the resolution of the other states, of California and Maine, of North Carolina, of your brethren in Montana, and Colorado, and Wyoming, and even in Kentucky, which at last is bleaching out! The eyes of the country are upon the Keystone state. Ohio will roll up its ten thousands. Shall not Pennsylvania return her rousing old-fashioned majority? The importance of electing every Republican Assemblyman cannot be overrated. Our opponents in all close districts will put forth extraordinary exertions to elect Democrats to the Assembly. They will use every art and subterfuge, but at the bottom the real reason is to gain control of the Legislature so as to re-district the state so as to secure a Democratic Legislature in 1873. Forewarned is forearmed. We repeat that the omens are auspicious The Democrats have tried to steal our thunder, and have pretended to acquiesce in all the legislation which they battled against in every step and stage; and can that party be trusted to carry out Republican principles? We think not. Are they likely to handle the revenues with cleaner hands, and to produce as a more satisfactory balance sheet than Mr. Boutwell? Let Tammany answer—Tammany stuffing the ballot-box, bribing the Legislature and Judiciary, trampling on religious liberty, and fattening on the stolen riches of a betrayed people! Republicans of the rural districts, you are criminal if you neglect your political duties as citizens.

You have no right to shirk your duties as electors, because it takes a little time from your business to go to the polls. By your supineness and apathy last year the Democracy won an unexpected triumph in this Congressional District. Redeem your reputation and come out in your strength on the second Tuesday in October. Look out for your whole ticket, one and all. Stand shoulder to shoulder. These are the nominees of your party organization. A convention with delegates from all over the state, and after comparison of names selected the following gentlemen, as worthy of your confidence:

For Auditor General, David Stanton, of Beaver county; for Surveyor General, Robert B. Beath, of Schuylkill.

Here is your county ticket chosen at the primary election:

For Representatives, Dr. J. H. Gray, W. B. Gleason; for Treasurer, L. H. Metcalf; for Commissioner, Titus Ridgway; for Auditor, D. D. Williams.

By every rule of discipline, precedent, and by every consideration of future unity, you are bound to stand up for this ticket. The men have fought long in the Republican ranks, and some of them have seen hard service in the Union cause, and have honorable scars and disabilities to show for it Rally around them, and bear in mind that in supporting them you are fighting your own battles.

GET REGISTERED—But six more days remain for registration. This important duty should not be forgotten by voters. Each individual should attend to this matter in person. It is no person's business to attend to it for you. If not properly registered according to law the voter is subjected to considerable inconvenience at the polls, having to call witnesses to prove his right to vote, and perhaps lose his vote altogether. Saturday, October 1st is the last day for the performance of this important duty.

TITUSVILLE GAS WORKS—Great and material improvements are in progress in the Titusville gas works. It will be remembered that last winter, owing to the rapid and unexpected influx of population, and the proportionate extra demand for gas, that these works were run to their fullest capacity, and were barely equal to supply the demand. It was consequently determined this spring upon enlarging the works, and last June the ground was purchased adjoining the works, and the excavation commenced, for a new gasometer. This holder will be upon the telescopic principle, sixty-four feet in diameter, and the two sections will be thirty-two feet high, making a capacity of over 130,000 cubic feet. One-half of the holder only will be put in this year, which will be ample for immediate requirements. The old gasometer holds 20,000 feet. This will make a total of 70,000 feet. A new retort house has been built which will contain four benches of five retorts each, making twenty retorts in all These will be used as the consumption demand requires Mains are laid in the principal streets, and further extensions are being made in several parts of the city. A large main will be laid next season through Pine street so as to more fully equalize the pressure of gas to consumers. It will be necessary also the ensuing season to add to the purifying house by a supply of larger pumps and condensers. When these improvements are all completed it will be almost equivalent to building the works entirely now, of a three-fold capacity. The cost of the improvements this year will be $25,000.

The Nilsson Concert.

The Opera-house never witnessed a more brilliant assemblage of people within its walls than that which filled its every portion, from parquette to the gallery, last evening, to hear Mlle Nilsson—the veritable Nilsson—who has not only charmed Paris, but delighted New York, won smiles instead of cold criticisms from Boston, and the universal admiration of those who have sat beneath her words of melody.

The vocabulary of phrases of admiration has long since been exhausted in praise of this fair queen of song by the professional critics of the metropolitan press. And although gladly welcomed by the very creme de la creme of European and American society and musical artistes, we venture the assertion that she never met a warmer welcome nor conferred a greater pleasure to a more appreciative audience than that of last evening, composed as it was of representatives from every portion of the surrounding country, though our city's majority largely predominated over all others. The first part of the evening's programme was opened by a violin solo, arranged from "Martha," and performed by Senor Sarasate, who, though not to be compared with Ole Bull, will always, we think, please a majority of the audience better than the latter. But the best efforts of the Senor were but a prelude of the treat to come, for Nilsson was next on the programme. There was a moment of almost painful stillness, and then a slender figure in white advanced with a rapid, graceful step. There was not one in the audience who would not have recognized the singer even had she not been announced at that moment, and her appearance was the signal for prolonged and enthusiastic applause of welcome.

As she stood upon the stage, awaiting the termination of the pianist's prelude, she seemed to be rapidly making the acquaintance of her audience, with a quiet, self-possessed air not entirely devoid of a certain hauteur that arises, one fancies, from a conscious-ness of her power. Her portraits give one but a faint idea of her face. Eyes of a clear, wondrous blue, wavy blonde hair, in which were moss roses and diamonds sparkling with every motion; a forehead broad, full and white, regular features, possessed of the power to portray every emotion—such was Nilsson as she sang "Angels Ever Bright and Fair." Her voice was most penetrating in its sweetness, and did not disappoint one in the slightest particular, which cannot be said of many another singer. In response to an encore she seated herself at the piano and gave a little ballad, which was heartily applauded.

Monsieur Jamet displayed the power and richness of his voice in Sacchini's "Oedipe a Colonne."

Next came Miss Annie Louise Cary, who charmed the audience at once by her sweet face and manner as she sang Cavatina "Giuramento," by Mercadante. Miss Cary's voice is a rich full contralto, and her appearance was most winning in a toilette of rose-colored tarleton and pink silk overskirt, and peculiar poise of the head that was very becoming. For an encore she sang "Kathleen Mavourneen" in a style that won the hearts of her hearers at once. We are pleased to hear that this lady makes her debut in opera shortly in a character that won for her grand success abroad.

"St. Patrick's Day," by Sarasate, was well received, though it elicited less applause than his other performance.

But the crowning effort of the evening was Ophelia's grand mad scene from Hamlet. The pale beauty of Nilsson was enhanced by her superb dress of white silk trimmed with point lace and wreaths of flowers. Her personation of Ophelia seemed to be the perfection of acting—so perfect that a description of the scene would be superfluous. Her alternations of wildest joy to deepest melancholy, with the intermediate phases of insanity, were portrayed with startling power, and without losing for a moment her dignity of demeanor, and without any effect of stage scenery. Her purity of voice was never displayed to better advantage.

In response to an encore, Miss Nilsson sang the touching negro melody, "Suanee River," with a tender pathos and a consummate sweetness and smoothness that were wholly captivating. In part second, in response to an encore, she gave a Swedish composition with an archness and vivacity of manner, and the most delicate and tasteful shading of its exquisite melody.

Owing to a sudden indisposition Signor Brignoli was unable to appear, which was a great disappointment to many, but the remaining artistes of the company tried to atone for the absence of the Signor.

The duet, "A Night in Venice," by Mlle. Nilsson and Miss Cary, revealed the most delightful qualities of voice in each. It seemed like the carolling of birds, in which delicacy, grace, sentiment and exquisite vocalization had effected their highest combinations, and the audience were moved to the most enthusiastic demonstrations of applause. This being the final performance, the audience refused to disperse until the performers had reappeared and indulged them in a parting song of equal brilliancy and effect, and which called forth the same rapturous plaudits. Thus ended the Nilsson concert, in the opinion of many the finest musical performance ever rendered in Titusville, though the admirers of Clara Louise Kellogg still contend that the American prima donna is not surpassed by even the Swedish songstress.

ACCIDENT FROM ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGE OF A REVOLVER—A young lad, ten years of age, son of Andrew Swanson, was quite seriously injured by the accidental discharge of a revolver with which he was playing, yesterday afternoon. He thought it was unloaded, and was handling it carelessly when it went off, the ball passing through the left hand, leaving it in a very mangled condition. Drs. Bailey and Jones were called and dressed the wound. The hand will probably be saved, though it is likely to be disabled.

THE "marching prize" at the Triennial Grand Encampment, Knights Templar, at Baltimore, last week, was awarded to the Detroit Commandery. We observe in the special mention made of various other commanderies that Mount Olivet, of Erie, was awarded the ninth position. A large number of the Erie Commandery consisted of the Rose Croix Commandery of Titusville. They had a post of honor in the procession at Washington on the following day.

YOM KIPPUR—Yesterday was the celebrated Jewish fast-day known as Yom Kippur, held in special observance by the Israelites throughout the world. The exercises at the synagogues continued from 6 o'clock Sunday evening till 9 o'clock last evening.

FALL AND WINTER FASHIONS—FUNK'S DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT.—In our perigrinations about town yesterday, endeavoring to discover if there was anything new under the sun that we could jot down in our reportorial tablets, we dropped in at John M. Funk's brilliant opening. The counters were covered with goods, the clerks were busy as bees, and the store was filled with buyers. It did seem as though there was never a time when there were so many beautiful things in the dry goods market as at present, or when Funk's establishment presented a more inviting appearance; or else Mr. Cy. Fuller (who has lately retired from the position of co-proprietor to that of high private in the clerical brigade), has a peculiar faculty for making a tempting display, and so bewitchingly sets out the fabrics in glowing colors and lovely draperies that they fascinate the eye with loveliness. The establishment is literally crammed with gorgeous designs in dress. Where would trade be, we thought, if women wore broadcloth? It certainly is rather complimentary to the sex to see all the lavish display in the dry goods temples, and to know that all this wealth and power and beauty is its attribute alone, to be used in conquering worlds—of men.

Mr. Funk's brilliant fall opening could not be confined to a day, though to have looked in there yesterday, which was one of the most delicious and charming of Indian Summer, one would have thought that the dress circle of the Nilsson audience had halted on their way to the Opera-house to do homage to the display made for their delectation. Old Sol seemed to have purposely reserved all his autumnal glories to render the double service of gratifying the bonneted and crinolined portion of humanity with a gorgeous spectacle, and of enabling the proprietor to display the products of his enterprise and taste as a caterer for the fairer sex to the best advantage. So superb and varied an exhibition of rich and fashionable goods has seldom been presented in Titusville. It would be impossible to sketch the endless variety in each department, for in dress goods we were shown plaids, merinoes, empress, cashmeres, alpacas, satines, velvets, velveteens, plushes, etc., in endless quantities and styles; in dress silks a full line of every shade, fancy and black; in laces, point, applique, valenciennes, collars and cuffs, full sets; ties, scarfs, bows, embroideries, embroidered flannels; shawls in every variety and blankets; Valour satin trimmings, laces and trimming goods in infinite variety; Boulevard and hoop skirts; zephyr worsted work and kids; hosiery and underwear; Passamenterie trimmings and fringes; cloakings of every description, etc., etc. But to attempt a description of all these picturesque materials would involve more space than we can command. We came away with the conviction that if there is anything new under the sun it can be found at Funk's. If there is anything rich, rare and costly you can certainly find it there. The ladies have found it out—and alas! the gentlemen have found it out—"for, when you come to be married, Sammy," said the senior Mr. Weller, "you'll know a good many things as you don't know now!"

THE following lines were written by Miss Cordelia Smith, of Chapmanville, Venango county. Miss Smith is twenty years of age. Owing to an accident in infancy, by which she was seriously crippled, she has been all her life a helpless invalid, and for several years past constantly confined to her bed. She never attended school nor received systematic instruction, but the composition would do credit to one possessed of the best advantages:

THE NAME OF MOTHER.

There are words that speak of a quenchless love,
That burns in the hearts we cherish,
And accents that tell of a friendship proved,
That never will blight or perish;
There are soft words murmured by dear, dear lips,
Far richer than any other;
But the sweetest word that the ear hath heard
Is the blessed name of Mother.

Oh, magical word, may it never die
From the lips that love to speak it,
Nor melt away from the trusting hearts
That even would break to keep it.
Was there ever a name that lived like this!
Will there ever be such another!
The angels have reared in heaven a shrine
For the holy name of mother.

FOND MUSINGS.

I love to muse on gone by years,
On things which early life displayed;
To dwell on hopes, and joys, and fears,
Since sunk in time's oblivious grave.

I love to think of friends whose forms
Lie cold and silent 'neath the sod,
Whose spirits, freed from earth's rude storms,
Rest in the bosom of their God.

I love to see the righteous die,
For well I know their sorrows cease;
On wings of faith they mount on high,
To realms of love, of joy, of peace.

A GEOLOGICAL AND MINERALOGICAL CABINET FOR THE UNION SCHOOL—Some three months ago Mr. Jonathan Watson proposed to Professor Henry A. Ward, of Rochester University, to furnish a geological and mineralogical cabinet for the Union school, of Titusville, at a cost of $1,000, provided the school directors would appropriate a suitable room and furnish the necessary cases for the collection. The matter was presented to the consideration of the directors, and four of their number, who were the only members then in the city, accepted the proposition on behalf of the Board. Professor Ward has already commenced making the collection, and has dispatched an order to Europe for a portion of the materials. He visited Titusville yesterday to inspect the room in which the collection is to be placed, and to arrange the plan of the cabinet. The large recitation room on the south side of the senior department of the Second Ward school will be used for this purpose, and the cabinet will be erected during the winter vacation. The cost of the collection will be $1,000, and Mr. Watson is entitled to the thanks of the community for this liberal donation to our educational interests. The prompt acceptance of the proposition by the School Directors will also meet the general public approbation.

Mr. Ward's indefatigable labors in this department of natural science have won for him the highest distinction in his profession. The finest geological and mineralogical cabinets in this country are the results of his personal and unassisted enterprise, including that of Rochester University, valued at $35,000; Vassar College of Poughkeepsie; Allegheny College, at Meadville; Mr. Watson's private cabinet, and many others for schools and private individuals throughout the country, at values ranging from $1,000 to $25,000.

—If a special train had been run between Oil City and Titusville after the Nilsson concert last evening many people who remained at home would have been present. Paying hotel bills and concert bills too are a little heavy on the "boys" with small salaries, who have two girls on a string.

—Nilsson tickets sold for fifteen dollars a pair at one time yesterday, but the market weakened at the close and they were plenty at the original cost of four dollars.

—Some of our young men who invested in concert tickets realized sufficient from the sale therof to purchase winter overcoats, and pay their board bills until the blue birds come again.

—Mlle. Nilsson and other members of her concert troupe visited Church Run yesterday, under escort of several ladies and gentlemen from the Parshall House, and were much interested in witnessing the modus operandi of drilling, pumping, &c. Miss N. expressed an inclination to invest something in the oil business as an experiment, and we shall not be surprised if we soon hear of the Nilsson flowing well.

—Our city real estate dealers were much excited yesterday over Nilsson's visit, and considerable rivalry was created between the owners of corner lots when it was known that the Swedish songstress had hinted at a desire to settle in this city.

—It is reported that Max Strakosch said he would not give his interest in the Nilsson troupe for the best well on Church Run. That is a very pretty sentiment, but Max never heard of the big well at Reno, hooping it up at the rate of three hundred barrels a day, or he might change his tune.

—The up train on the Oil Creek road yesterday afternoon consisted of seven coaches well filled with passengers, who were coming to the concert last night.

—The receipts of the Nilsson concert last evening were nearly $4,000. Nearly every seat was occupied in parquette, dress circle and family circle, and the gallery was ram-jam full, there being about one hundred Swedes among that portion of the audience.

—Mlle Nilsson, we hear, is to be married as soon as her engagement is closed with Strakosch. The lucky gentleman is a New Yorker, formerly an oil operator at Pithole, and at that time a regular correspondent of this paper. Mum's the word, and we withhold his name for the present.

McKean County Oil News.

The Salem Company have their well down nearly four hundred feet, with good indications. The Barnsdall Oil Company are putting down a large hole and making good progress. The Independent have got their derrick under way, and a new company, the W. H. Taylor, was formed on the 21st inst. The officers of the new company are: J. K. Haffay, President; J. W. Hilton, Vice President; T. J. Campbell, Treasurer, and T. J. Melvin, Secretary. This company, about to develop the Kendall creek territory, are sanguine of success, as a well was put down about six hundred feet some seven years ago at the junction of Kendall creek with the Tunnugunant, and oil flowed, but the well was not successfully tested. This well has yielded a steady flow of oil, small in quantity, ever since, and with practical oil men to manage the drilling and pumping, the territory, it is believed, will prove very productive. The machinery of the No. 1. well at Limestone has been out of repair for some days and the hole has again filled up with oil which flows in greater quantities than before the well was sunk deeper. Oil stocks are already changing hands and the Barnsdall commands sixty per cent. premium. The names of operators from Oil Creek, and capitalists, are as numerous on the register of the Bradford House as those of "commercial travelers." The Bradford House, by the way, is well kept by Parsons & Stone, the latter runs the culinary and livery departments, whilst the genial Enos runs all over; he tells a good story, drives a good team, and with a good building well furnished, a larder supplied daily with the luxuries of a city market, and gentlemanly clerks and attendants, the Bradford House is a credit to the place and a profit to its proprietors.

CATALOGUE OF ORNAMENTAL TREES, SHRUBS, ROSES, FLOWERING PLANTS, ETC.—We have received from Ellwanger & Barry, of the celebrated Mount Hope Nurseries, Rochester, N. Y., copies of their annual catalogues just issued. No. 1,20th edition contains a descriptive catalogue of fruits; No. 2, of ornamental trees, shrubs, roses, flowering plants, etc; No. 3, 25th edition, is devoted to plants; No 4 is a wholesale catalogue of the Mount Hope Nurseries for the autumn 1871; No. 5 is an illustrative as well as descriptive catalogue of bulbous flower roots, etc. The season for filling orders opens about the 1st of September. Parties ordering early are more likely to get what they want than if they wait until the stock of some articles in the line of bulbous flower roots becomes exhausted. Correspondents are requested to write plainly their name, post-office, county and state. The price of catalogues Nos. 1, 2 and 3 is ten cents each; Nos. 4 and 5 two cents each. The prices are annexed to each tree, plant, etc. It is unnecessary to say anything of this first-class nursery, which has been established over thirty years, and has no equal on this continent for vast extent, admirable business arrangements, beautiful grounds. The amount of land under cultivation is now six hundred and fifty acres, in and around Rochester. They are richly worth a journey of many hundreds of miles to visit.

WRITING ON NEWSPAPERS—The following may be of interest to some of our readers:

"If an person shall enclose or conceal a letter, or other thing, or any memorandum in writing, in a newspaper, pamphlet or magazine, or make any memorandum thereon, which he shall have delivered into any post-office, or to any person for that purpose, in order that the same may be sent by post free of a letter postage, he shall forfeit the sum of five dollars for every such offence—and the latter, newspaper, packages, memorandums, or other things shall not be delivered to the person to whom it is directed until the amount of single letter postage is paid for each article of which the package is composed."—U. S. Statutes, Sec. 316.

ATTENTION, FIREMEN.—There will be a special meeting of the board of officers of the Titusville fire department at Colonel Drake Hall, on Franklin street, this (Tuesday) evening at half-past seven o'clock precisely. All are requested to attend, as business of importance is at hand. By order of B. BOSCH, Chief.

Black alpaca, which is suitable for any occasion, costs from fifty cents to one dollar and a half a yard.

Colored guipure lace is shown in shades of brown and gray for trimming costumes.

Flat bands, folds and pleatings will be the trimmings most used for fall clothing.

Lace will be used in great profusion on fall and winter suits of both silk and cashmere.

Rich Lyons velvet for cloaks, in dark shades, for $16 a yard, twenty-three inches in width.

The stripped India shawl, square or double, varies in price from $40 to $1.75; it never wears out.

Among the handsomest garments is the Louis XIV. Vest Polonaise. It is used as an overdress for suits.

Fall suits have arrived from Paris and Berlin. Walnut brown, plum color and deepest cypress green are colors most seen.

There is no marked change in the style of fall garments. Those of last year's wear can scarcely be modernized. Polonaise prevails.

PETROLEUM—The commercial world was astounded last fall, when the journals announced that this great product of Pennsylvania had grown to the enormous daily yield of twenty thousand barrels, or eight hundred and sixty thousand gallons. This quantity now promises to be increased, through the continued efforts of the well-managers, and the careful management in the development of new fields. The demand for the article keeps pace with the supply, the world gradually discovering its superiority over all other articles as an illuminator, and it is fast being introduced into every portion of the civilized globe.

Its usefulness as a lubricator has long since been fully demonstrated, and its adaptation to the uses of all kinds of machinery, opens up for it an additional field as a market. Recent experiments with petroleum as a fuel have attracted much attention, and we have no doubt that before long its economy and superiority over coal in other respects, will open for it an additional purchaser. It is peculiarly adapted to the wants of railroads and steamships as a fuel, owing to the fact that it requires so much less room than coal in laying in a supply for immediate use. Much labor and cost will be saved besides in handling it, and much more intense heat is attained. It is estimated that fully fifty per cent. is saved in the cost of fuel, and this with its other advantages will bring it into use ultimately.—Pittsburgh Gazette.

Old Things Have Passed Away.—This is at least true of the old method of treating the long-abused and much-abused human body. It is no longer considered wise to put a patient to the torture in order to cure him of a disease in which pain is already undermining the energies of his system. True science ranges itself on the side of nature, and endeavors to assist her in her fight against disease. This is the province of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most approved tonic ever advertised in this country. It may be regarded as a full medicine par excellence; for it is in the fall that biliousness, dyspepsia and malarious fevers are especially prevalent. The frame, exhausted by the heats of summer, is relaxed and feeble at its close, and requires, we may say demands, artificial assistance. Afford it that assistance in the shape of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and the evils referred to may be escaped. Throughout the far west, and on the steaming alluvial of the southern rivers, all the varieties of periodical fever are probably rife to-day. Had a course of Hostetter's Bitters been commenced by the sufferers a month ago, or before the unhealthy season set in, seven-eighths of them would in all probability be in their usual health at the present time. So much for want of forecaste. So much for not keeping in the house, and using daily the best safeguard against epidemic and endemic fevers.

As flocks of impostors and imitators are trying to follow in the wake of the great American remedy, therefore be sure that the article you buy is genuine and verified by the proper trade marks. The true article can only be obtained in bottles. Beware of the nauseous bitters sold by the gallon
